

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

DISINFECTANTS.—Disinfectants for free distribution has been placed at the Central Drug Store by the Board of Health, and it is hoped that it will be freely used by our citizens. Clean up your premises, and disinfect them well if you want to enjoy good health. A stitch in time saves nine, and now is the time to take the stitch.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Calhoun Inabinet, of Caw Caw Township, died very suddenly last Monday night. He was busy all day in the field, and eat a very hearty supper and went to bed. Sometime during the night he woke his wife up, telling her he was sick, but before she could do any thing for him he died. Mr. Inabinet was about forty-five years old, and a good citizen.

FLOUR CORN.—The News and Courier of the 20th says that Capt. A. T. Harlee has sent to the agricultural department some samples of his flour corn. Some months ago mention was made in this correspondence of a sample of flour sent to the bureau by Mr. Harlee. The corn is described as being very prolific and having but little in its composition besides flour. This flour is remarkably fine and cannot be distinguished from wheat flour.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. MATTHEWS. The ladies of our sister town of St. Matthews propose giving an entertainment on next Thursday evening, May 6th, for the purpose of raising funds to provide a public reading room for that town. Ice cream, cakes and other dainties will be served, and it is hoped that the ladies will meet with a grand success, as the object they have in view is a most worthy one, and deserves encouragement. So let every one, who can, attend.

A DOUBLE HEADED SNAKE.—Capt. W. W. Oliver, of Middle St. Matthews, sent to town last week a snake killed on his place by a colored man that was a curiosity. The snake had two fully developed heads, one on each end, and could travel either way with ease. We know that snakes are bad things to construct extraordinary stories on, but the above is a literal fact, and can be touched for by a number of gentlemen who examined the double-headed reptile. We never heard of such a thing before, and would like to see an explanation of it from some of our scientific men.

A RUNAWAY.—Last Saturday afternoon, just about the time the train from Columbia arrived at the depot, a horse hitched to a buggy became frightened and ran away, smashing up horses generally. This caused the horses in the omnibus of the Orangeburg Hotel to become frightened and away they went up Amelia street with only two little children in the omnibus. After running from the depot to the school house of Mr. Mellichamp they were stopped by Mr. Julius A. Edwards, who happened to be on the street. Nothing was hurt, but the little fellows inside were overjoyed at their safe deliverance.

THE PINK TEA.—As stated last week the ladies of the Lutheran Church will give a pink tea during the early part of May, for the benefit of their church. The novelty of the entertainment will no doubt attract many visitors, and all who go, can be assured of having a nice time. Everything will be of the color of pink, the ladies will be dressed in pink, the tables will be covered with pink, and the dishes will be pink. An exclusive predominating decided color will make a picturesque effect, and such as this has never been seen in Orangeburg. The object for which the entertainment is given is a worthy one, and should have a liberal encouragement.

SOUTHERN STATISTICS.—The Bureau of Statistics under the Treasury Department, has under preparation a report of the industrial and commercial interest of the Southern States, east of the Mississippi and South of the Potomac. Mr. L. A. Ransom, of the Agricultural Department of this State, has been appointed by the Chief of the Bureau at Washington, to furnish the statistics from this State. It is the first effort of this kind which has been made, and is necessarily attended with a good many difficulties. The department asks the aid of every one interested in making a good showing to inform them of the various industries in the State. Nothing will do more to improve our country than to let other people know our natural advantages, and what can be made by a proper development of our resources.

EASTER.—The Easter Day services at the Church of the Redeemer, Rev. H. J. Broadwell, M. D., Rector, were unusually interesting. The beautiful blending of evergreen, moss and flowers showed the most exquisite taste on the part of the ladies of the parish and a most cordial interest in rendering the church attractive. The musical part of the service was beautifully and impressively rendered. In the morning the Rector preached from Col. III, 4, "Christ who is our life," and celebrated the Holy Communion. In the afternoon, evening prayer was said and a Children's Easter service was held, in which the singing of Carols, repeating of Scripture passages, a short address by the Rector, and the distribution of Easter Cards, formed a pleasant and interesting service. An unusually large attendance marked both the morning and afternoon service.

HO, FOR AIKEN!—The Baptist Sunday School of our town has made very favorable arrangements with the South Carolina Railroad for an excursion to Aiken, on Tuesday, May 11th. It will be a basket picnic, and the Sunday schools of all the denominations have been invited to unite. The Committee of Arrangements, with a special eye to the pleasure of the children, has fixed upon the following low rates of passage: "Sunday school children, 25 cents; all other persons, $1.00. Considering the fact that Aiken is a most popular and attractive resort, and that Orangeburg has never yet had an excursion of this kind to that city, we have no doubt that a great many will avail themselves of the opportunity of so pleasant a trip. The train will leave Orangeburg at 7 A. M.; arrive at Aiken at 10 A. M.; leave Aiken at 5 P. M., and return to Orangeburg at 8 P. M., thus giving the excursionists seven hours in Aiken. Tickets will be placed for sale, at once, at the stores of Messrs. Theodore Kohn and Lowman & Dukes.

OUR BREVITY BASKET.

Filled With Brief Mention of Many Minor Events of the Week.

The Farmers' Convention meets today in Columbia.

The farmers' convention was very slimly attended last Saturday.

We hope the gallant Edistos and their friends will have a gala time today.

A number of Easter picnics were held in different parts of the County last Saturday.

The Episcopal Church was handsomely and tastefully decorated last Sunday with flowers.

We are indebted to Mrs. J. D. Palmer for a bouquet of lovely roses sent us last Wednesday.

Our base ball club expects to go to Columbia next week to extinguish the club of that city.

Yes—we are all good, in our way; but some of us have some very odd ways—haven't we?

Most of the farmers that we have conversed with on the subject report a poor stand of corn.

Several parties have joined the Baptist Church during the present meeting. Let the good work go on.

Miss Amanda Butler will please accept our thanks for a bouquet of beautiful roses, sent us last Monday.

Charleston had better disband her base ball club and retire from the field. They are a poor lot of sticks.

As this is campaign year every family ought to take one of the county papers. It is money well invested.

Our serial story is taking splendidly. The one that is now running will be followed by another of equal merit.

Mr. Geo. S. Hacker died in Charleston last Tuesday. He was the well known door and sash manufacturer.

A Florida subscriber of THE TIMES AND DEMOCRAT says he would not do without the paper for three times its cost.

It may possibly interest somebody to know that Congressman Geo. W. Dargan is, by his own declaration, a free trader.

The Hon. Geo. D. Tilman has our thanks for a copy of his speech, in the National House of Representatives, on silver coinage.

Two Newberry cows got their horns so tightly locked while fighting that it required the strength of three men to separate them.

An exchange says in China doctors are paid five to ten cents a visit. Doctors, in this country, very often don't get that much.

Judge B. P. Izlar represented Orangeburg Lodge, Knights of Honor, at the recent session of the Grand Lodge at Georgetown, S. C.

Look out for the advertisement of Mr. Geo. H. Cornelison next week. In the meantime call and examine his mammoth stock.

Dr. W. C. Wannamaker, of our town was elected one of the Vice Presidents of the State Medical Association at its recent session at Camden.

Nella F. Bramer, the Queen of American readers, will appear at the Masonic Hall Saturday evening with the Boston Star Concert Company.

The Chicago Leader truthfully says that the man who never does any harm might crawl into a vat and stay there ten years without being missed.

Medora Henson Emerson, the great American Prima Donna Soprano, is with the Boston Stars, and will appear Saturday, May 1, at Masonic Hall.

To enable every one to hear the Boston Stars on Saturday evening, May 1, the management have decided to commence the entertainment at 9 o'clock.

The South Carolina Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church has given its sanction to the rule forbidding dancing—square or round—to church members.

Girls, when your escort ventures on the thin clutch, say hands off. It is an ill appearing habit and a degree of personal familiarity which should not be permitted.

The Boston Star Concert Company will appear at the Masonic Hall Saturday evening, May 1. Doors open at half-past 8 o'clock; entertainment commences at 9.

Walter Emerson, said to be the greatest cornet player living is with the Boston Concert Company, and will appear at the Masonic Hall next Saturday evening.

Our town was visited by a much needed shower of rain yesterday, which we hope extended all over the county, as our farmers are needing rain to get their crops up.

We understand that Mr. Hamp Wiggins, of Holly Hill, was thrown from his buggy last week by his horse becoming frightened, and sustained serious injuries.

We hear that it is definitely fixed now that the Eutawville Railroad will not go to Ellore, but will cross the Santee River somewhere near Vance's Ferry, and go to Sumter, S. C.

If you build a new fence, or repair the old one, be sure and make the gate to open on the inside. Better still, change the old one. You know how it is yourself when you have run against one on a dark night.

Intelligence comes from New York that the strike in the sugar refineries has caused sugar to advance 1½ cents within a week. The entire stock is in the hands of the speculators who will hold it for a yet greater advance.

Editor Dawson, of the News and Courier, sailed last week from Europe on his return home. Our genial friend, J. C. Hemphill, Esq., has filled the editorial chair so gracefully and ably in Capt. Dawson's absence that he was not missed.

The Barnwell People says: "The survey of the Blackville and Alston Railroad is progressing favorably beyond the Edisto. The line that has been run crosses the river at White Oak island on the Aldrich place, a mile and a half above the New Bridge." Wake up, Orangeburg.

At the meeting of the Second Quarterly Conference of St. Paul's Methodist Church, last Tuesday evening, the following delegates and alternates were elected to the District Conference to be held at Wesley Chapel some time in August: J. P. Harley and A. C. Dibble, Delegates, and J. L. Sims and J. S. Albergotti, Alternates.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Impression Made Upon a Stranger by a Visit to our Town.

Sometime ago Clerk of Court Willis of Colleton County, paid a brief visit to our town, and this is what he has to say about us in the Colleton Press: As your paper is teeming with politics, I thought I might please some of your readers by varying the "bill of fare," and give them a short account of my recent trip to the city of Orangeburg. I will dispense with all apologies and preliminaries, and commence by saying that I spent the night of the 2nd instant, with my relatives in the pleasant little town of Reevesville. I took the 8 o'clock train Saturday morning, and in one and a half hours I stepped on the Orangeburg depot. I was met there and warmly greeted by my old friend and former neighbor, Capt. H. G. Sheridan, who conducted me to his pleasant home situated a short distance from the depot. Capt. Sheridan, assisted by his two sons, are conducting one among the best classical schools in the country. He has under his charge ninety scholars and five counties are represented in his school. Boys are prepared here to enter the higher classes in college or for the active duties in life. He has several boys, and at least one young lady, from Colleton. We took a walk through the business portion of the city, and I was astonished to see the crowd of people thronging the sidewalks, crowding the stores, the street, as well as the large wagon yard of Mr. Cornelison, were filled with vehicles of every kind from the country, and I suppose I saw at least fifty bales of cotton brought in for sale. Mr. Cornelison has, I think, the finest store and largest stock of goods in the city. Messrs. Kohn, Pike and Epstein, have also large stores. Dr. Wannamaker has the finest drug store in the city. My young friend from Colleton Dr. Reeves is doing well in the drug business also. We visited the office of THE TIMES AND DEMOCRAT, Editor Sims was out, but we were politely shown over the office and found every thing in good style. It is a live paper, and its gentlemanly editor (to whom I was introduced later in the day, and roomed with him while in the city) deserves the success he has achieved. Later in the evening Capt. Sheridan took me in his buggy through all the principal streets of the city and to every place of note in the suburbs of the city. Orangeburg is certainly a beautiful as well as a thriving city, and when they build their Leviedale and Fork Rail Road the business of the city will be doubled. I like Orangeburg very much and was very much pleased with my short visit.

The May number of the Eclectic Magazine is an attractive and readable issue, covering a goodly variety of topics. The leading paper, "Ireland Under Her Own Parliament," by J. H. Derwent, is very germane to the British situation to-day, on which the eyes of all the world are fixed. A paper on "The Rossetis" will interest readers specially interested in literary and artistic questions. James Bryce, M. P., is represented by a contribution on "The Relations of History and Geography," and Lady Dilke, whose marriage to her husband under the circumstances represents a rare degree of courage and devotion, has an historical paper of interest on "France Under Richelieu." The contribution by Huxley on "The Evolution of Theology" will be read with peculiar interest. Sir John Lubbock on "The Pleasure of Reading," giving our readers a bright and suggestive paper which may be studied with profit, and the companion article, "The Office of Literature," will be also cordially welcomed by literary readers. Among minor articles special attention may be called to "Emigration," from the Saturday Review, and "Socialist Rage" and "Multiple Personality," from the London Spectator. There is the usual variety of short stories, poetry and sketches. The number as a whole seems to be of a highly popular character. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single number 45 cents; trial subscription for 3 months, $1. Eclectic and any $4 Magazine, $8.

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF A CHILD.—The correspondent of the News and Courier, writing from this place, under date of last Saturday, says: "One of the most brutal and inhuman acts of cruelty ever committed in a civilized country has recently come to light in this county. It seems that about two weeks ago a little negro child, about four years of age, in the upper part of this county, was by some accident severely burned. The child did not live with its parents, but was at the house of a relative, a colored man. It had not recovered from its burns, and was unable to get up or move from its bed. On Saturday night last this negro man deliberately left home, without providing either food or water for the helpless sufferer, and did not return until the following Sunday night or Monday morning, when the child, had been left alone, was found dead. An inquest was held, and the physician who made the post-mortem examination assures me the child died from actual starvation. An examination of the intestines and stomach showed an entire absence of food or liquid. Surely this is a case that merits and should receive the severest punishment."

SWINDLES.—There has been much said lately about the "Bohemian oil swindle." But the whole thing is so barefaced that we do not sympathize much with the unfortunate suckers. But what is worse and more insinuating is the fruit tree swindle. It takes longer to learn that you are swindled, but the damage is almost irreparable. There is only one way to be safe in buying fruit trees, and that is to buy of some local nursery man that has an established reputation for fair dealing. Give the sick-tongued, slick picture-book tree agent a wide berth, and set the dog on him if he is too persistent. A safe rule is to buy nothing of unknown traveling agents.

THE ROAD LAW.—Maj. Harry Hammond, of Beech Island, condemns the existing road laws in South Carolina and suggests that the public highways be placed under the management of a State board which should employ competent surveyors and engineers. The expense of this board is to be met by a tax, two thirds of which should be levied on vehicles, and the remaining one third on all other property. This is a subject that should receive the attention of the Farmers' Convention.

THE FARMERS MEET.

Full Proceedings of the Convention Held Last Saturday.

In pursuance of a call published last week, a convention of the farmers of Orangeburg County assembled in the Court House on Saturday last. On motion Capt. J. H. Felder was called to the chair and Mr. A. D. Fair requested to act as Secretary. Capt. Felder in announcing the object of the meeting said that the convention had not met to talk merely or by any act to antagonize any class or interest of our citizens, but to discuss matters relating to the farming interest and the welfare of our county. Many slaps had been made at this movement of the farmers from several quarters, but admitting that Mr. Tillman did deal in extreme language, he had an extreme case to call it forth. Other interests had united and why may not the farmers unite without being considered as antagonizing any other interest of our citizens, for we all claimed this State as our grand mother and we should speak no unkind word or perform no unkind act to another. The object then of the convention was to elect five delegates from the county at large to attend the State Farmer's Convention to assemble in Columbia on the 29th instant.

Mr. V. V. S. Austin said he was a farmer and could not say much about the matter, but he thought this convention ought to send delegates to confer with the Columbia Convention in order that we may know the full meaning of the movement. Each farmer should understand that every interest must be considered. We cannot do without the merchant and are willing to pay him a small per cent. profit on his goods. The doctor should not be left out because he might in some way be identified with the farming interest. So with the Mechanic, Clerk of the Court, &c., and they all could go to Columbia.

Mr. Miles Hughes professed to be a farmer but was sorry for it sometimes, and wished his parents had brought him up in some other occupation. He knew nothing of the purpose of the call whether there was more religion or politics in it; but he thought every farmer should go to Columbia himself, then we could see whether there was politics in it or not. Nobody could trust another man with his pocket book and therefore should go himself. Every one had a right to express himself whether educated or not. He did not object to a delegation but would not allow himself to be tied up.

Mr. J. T. Kennerly thought it was time to enter upon business and asked how many delegates were allowed. Being informed that five was the number, he moved that the convention proceed at once to elect them by ballot. Mr. Austin in seconding this motion said that although we were assembled in a farmers' convention, we were not selfish and our programme should be "to live and let live." It was impossible to separate our work from politics and we were obliged to abide by whatever the politicians do, for if we sink it will be through our law-makers. Five delegates having been already appointed from the Agricultural Society, he was willing to send five more and to abide by their action. He saw five gentlemen in the house whom he could trust for whatever may be done in Columbia could not be final. If other gentlemen desired to attend that convention he had no objection.

Mr. W. A. Mackey moved to amend Mr. Kennerly's motion by inserting the words: And that the five candidates receiving the highest number of votes be declared elected and that the nominations be restricted to ten. The motion of Mr. Kennerly as amended was then read as follows:

Resolved, That this convention proceed at once to elect by ballot five delegates to represent this county in the farmers convention to assemble in Columbia on the 29th instant, and that the five receiving the highest number of votes be declared elected and that the three next be declared alternates.

Maj. W. A. O'Carroll at this point raised the question as to who should be allowed to participate in these deliberations; because gentlemen, members of the Agricultural Society, were supporting this measure. He only raised the point to be informed and asked for the information. The President ruled that members of the Agricultural Society could participate in the discussion but could not vote.

Mr. W. A. Mackey, excited, said he was a farmer of Orangeburg County and, because he happens to be a member of the Agricultural Society, he is to be debarred by the President's ruling of a voice in this meeting. Such a thing was an outrage. He had been instrumental in calling this very meeting and yet he is to be shut out and allowed no part or voice in saying who of his fellow citizens should represent him and his interest. In all his life he had never heard of such a high handed measure and it was nothing more or less than an outrage upon the farming interest of the county.

Mr. Austin moved that all farmers be allowed to participate and to vote in the proceeding of this meeting. This motion being carried, Mr. Kennerly's resolution was adopted and the convention proceeded to the election, which resulted as follows:

Delegates, Messrs. J. H. Felder, J. H. Dukes, A. D. Fair, L. S. Connor and V. V. S. Austin. Alternates, Messrs. J. T. Kennerly, W. A. Mackey, R. F. Way and Dr. R. W. Bates.

By motion the highest vote was made unanimous and the convention adjourned.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A quarterly meeting of this Society will be held on Saturday, 8th of May, at Sheridan's School House. A full meeting is desired.

HEALTHY GIRLS.—Nothing, says Dio Lewis, is so terrible as severe neuralgia; and, beyond a doubt, girls acquire it often enough by the conditions of school life. Headache in a school girl usually means exhausted nerve power through over-work, over-excitement, over-anxiety, or bad air. Rest, a good laugh, a country walk, will usually cure it readily enough to begin with. But to become subject to headaches is a very serious matter; and all such nervous diseases have a nice tendency to recur, to become periodic, to be set up by the same cause, to become an organic habit of the body. For any woman to become liable to neuralgia is a most terrible thing. It means that while it lasts life is not worth having. It paralyzes the power to work, it deprives her of the power to enjoy anything, it tends toward irritability of temper, it tempts the use of narcotics and stimulants. So says Dr. Nelson, and so say I. A girl who finds herself subject to neuralgia should at once change her habits, if but to grow strong in body. Of what use is education with ill health? A happy girl must be a healthy one. The Greeks educated their girls physically; we educate ours mentally. The Greek mothers bore the finest children the world ever produced. The Greek education of girls developed beautiful women, and their beauty lasted till old age. The beautiful Helen was as handsome at fifty as at "sweet sixteen."

THE COMET.—A comet is now visible in the morning skies, and it can be seen any clear morning with the naked eye from 2 o'clock until dawn blots it from view. It is the comet discovered by Fabry at Paris, France, on December 1st last. With a telescope the comet is a beautiful object, with a tail some five degrees or six degrees long, very slender and neatly shaped. A bright starlike nucleus shines in the head and is surrounded by a nebulous glow of light. A group of small stars can be seen some distance back of the head shining through the gauzy train without any diminution of their lustre. The comet is a conspicuous object and will, after to-day, be visible in the evening, sitting less than an hour after the sun, but it will be 560 times as bright as when discovered, which may somewhat compensate for the disadvantage of its being seen on a twilight sky. The comet will then be moving very rapidly toward the Southwest.

COL. LEE HAGOOD, Manager South Carolina Branch of the Valley Mutual Life Association of Virginia, on Thursday last received a check to pay the policy for $2,000 on the life of the late Rev. C. C. Fishburne, of Summerton, Clarendon County, and on Monday one for $3,000 to pay the policy of the late J. A. Davis, of Dovesville, Darlington County. Both these claims were paid about six weeks before they were legally due. This should be a sufficient refutation of the charge of some of the former agents of the Valley Mutual who are now working for the Inter States that the Valley Mutual is weakening, and our advise is to stick to the Valley Mutual and let the Inter States severally alone until they can show some assets to meet their liabilities.

BAMBERG, S. C., April 25, 1886.
Col. Lee Hagood, Manager South Carolina Branch, Valley Mutual Life Association of Virginia, Columbia, S. C.

DEAR SIR.—I have received your favor of the 23d instant, informing me that you had paid to my attorney, Capt. F. M. Wannamaker, the amount of the Policy ($2,000) in your Company on the life of my late husband, Rev. C. C. Fishburne.

Permit me to thank the Association through you for waiving the usual "ninety days" and paying the claim thus promptly.

Respectfully,
SIGNED, MARY L. FISHBURNE.

As evidence of my continued confidence in the Valley Mutual, I will state that I have to-day taken an additional Policy of $2,000, making $5,000 the full limit this Company writes on an individual life.

SIGNED, F. M. WANNAMAKER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
St. Matthews, S. C.
